

Lessons from a Terminated Project sketch

This sketch was a response to a session on the VCL project, which was terminated, and the concerns raised by "failure."

The PM, Phil Sabelhaus, is shown at the center of the discussion, with the VCL in the background. Audience members (other PMs) Ask questions typical of those asked in the session that could represent questions about any project that is terminated.

How this could be used

This sketch could be used in conjunction with a case study presentation to elicit questions and suggestions from the participants. An "unfinished" sketch could be hung on the wall or placed on a table and participants could write in other questions or comments from both the "audience" and the PM.
